EMS Utility Fee Adjustment Coming in 2026

As part of the ongoing commitment to ensure reliable emergency medical services (EMS) in our community, the City of Aberdeen will implement an increase to the monthly EMS Utility fee beginning on January 1, 2026. The new rate will be $67.54 and will be reflected on the February utility bill.

Why This Change is Needed

A recent cost of service study (completed in 2024) found that the current fee does not fully cover the cost of providing advanced life support and ambulance standby for the community. The budget for EMS operations has grown due to higher staffing levels to meeting the rising volume of calls; equipment maintenance, repair and replacement costs; and vehicle maintenance and replacement costs. Approximately 70 percent of EMS patients are Medicare and Medicaid recipients. The city receives a very low reimbursement from Medicare and Medicaid which forces the city to pay for the cost out of funds that are used to pay for police, parks, code enforcement, municipal court and other critical services. By adjusting the rate, the City can continue to fund the EMS program without major impacts to operations, availability or other critical programs.

More Assistance Options in 2026

The City will offer more assistance programs to help those who have trouble paying their bills. The City Council has directed City Staff to

Narcan and Our Four-legged Friends: What You Should Know

As communities across the nation continue to respond to the opioid crisis, it's not only people who are at risk of accidental exposure. Our pets, especially dogs, can also be victims of opioid poisoning.

Dogs have an incredible sense of smell, which makes them vulnerable to accidental opioid exposure. They may sniff, lick, or ingest trace amounts of fentanyl, oxycodone, or heroin residue while accompanying their owners outdoors, visiting public spaces, or even helping as K-9 officers. Because opioids act quickly on the nervous system, even a tiny amount can cause life-threatening effects in dogs.

Common signs of opioid toxicity in dogs include:

- Extreme sleepiness or unresponsiveness
- Slow or shallow breathing
- Small (pinpoint) pupils
- Vomiting or loss of coordination

If you see these signs or suspect exposure to opioids, seek emergency veterinary help immediately.

Narcan, generically called naloxone, is a medication that temporarily blocks the effects of opioids in the brain, helping to restore normal breathing. It's safe for use in animals and works the same way it does in humans. Veterinarians typically administer naloxone based on a dog's weight and condition, but in an emergency, a human dose nasal spray can be used if veterinary help isn't immediately

DID YOU KNOW?

The Wynoochee Dam is owned by the City of Aberdeen. Joe Malinowski, the eldest son of Polish immigrants, acquired the water rights of the Wynoochee River in the early 1920's. He sold the rights to the City of Aberdeen for $1.00 and was still alive when the dam was built in 1972 by the United States Army Corps of Engineers. The dam regulates the flow of the Wynoochee River, creating the Wynoochee Reservoir.

City Honors Music Project's Lee & Dani Bacon

Over the summer, Aberdeen's City Council officially honored Lee and Dani Bacon for their extraordinary contributions to the revitalization of Downtown Aberdeen and the cultural heartbeat of Aberdeen through their creation of The Music Project.

Located in Downtown Aberdeen at 121 W. Wishkah Street, The Music Project is more than a museum—its what its founders affectionately describe as an “anti-museum.” Through immersive galleries like “Unplugged”, “The Green Room”, and upcoming tributes, the space invites visitors to have an up-close experience of Kurt Cobain's legacy rather than traditional displays. The Bacons embarked on a meticulous multiyear restoration of a historic building that once housed Goldberg's Furniture, where it is said Cobain and Nirvana bassist Krist Novoselic briefly worked.

Lee and Dani also purchased and carefully and thoughtfully restored Cobain's childhood home in Aberdeen, now a State-registered historic landmark.

In June 2025, the Bacons unveiled The Music Project, a dedicated hub for creativity celebrating the Pacific Northwest's grunge origins.

The City Council's recognition of the Bacons and their work underscores The Music Project's importance—not only as a guardian of Cobain's legacy but also as a catalyst for artistic growth, community pride, and cultural tourism in Aberdeen. City leaders praised the Bacons for weaving together architectural restoration, historical preservation and cultural inspiration and elevating it with authenticity, creativity, and a deeply personal vision. The City Council commends the Bacon's role in putting Aberdeen's musical heritage back in the spotlight through their work with the former Goldberg's Furniture building by taking a once-familiar storefront, reborn as a cultural hub that preserves local history while fueling creative exploration. ■

Don't Let Porch Pirates Spoil Your Holidays

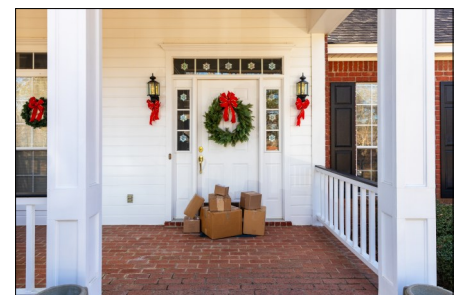

With the holiday season approaching, online shopping increases. The Aberdeen Police Department is reminding residents to take steps to protect their deliveries from “porch pirates”—thieves who steal packages left unattended on doorsteps and porches.

Each year, reports of stolen deliveries rise during November and December. These crimes can happen in seconds, often in broad daylight, and leave victims frustrated and without their holiday purchases.

To keep your packages safe:

- Track your deliveries and try to be home when they arrive.
- Require a signature or have items delivered to a workplace, trusted neighbor, or local pickup locker.
- Install a doorbell camera or motion-activated light to deter would-be thieves and help capture evidence if a theft occurs.
- Communicate with your neighbors about suspicious behavior in your neighborhood.
- Don't leave packages outside overnight—pick them up as soon as possible.

If you believe your package has been stolen, first verify delivery through you the carrier's tracking system. Then, report the theft to the Aberdeen Police Departments non-emergency line (360) 533-3180 or online through the APD's reporting portal. ■ create a "Round up" and "Recurring Donation" option on bills. The Round Up Program will allow customers to round up their monthly utility bill to the nearest dollar, with proceeds dedicated to supporting customers who need assistance. Generous customers will also have an option to set up recurring monthly donations, which allows contributions in a more predictable manner and at a level of their choosing. The City also plans to collect more data on EMS program usage in order to create prevention initiatives which in turn can reduce long-term service demands and improve community health. Since the pandemic, the City has seen a doubling in call volume that has not reduced. "We are seeing trends where more and more people are using EMS services for preventative care and to address chronic conditions," said City Administrator Ruth Clemens. "Our hope is to create a community risk reduction program that will educate people and direct them to alternative resources for issues that are not necessarily emergencies." available. If Narcan is administered to a dog, owners should seek immediate veterinary care as the animal may risk slipping back into overdose. Awareness and quick action can save a dog's life. To learn more about this issue, contact your local veterinarian or contact Grays Harbor Public Health to learn more about Narcan. ■
